Part IV. Sample “References”

p. 23

For complete explanations, refer to the APA Publication Manual:

American Psychological Association. (2010). Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). Washington, D.C.: Author.

Copies are available: at the LaGuardia Reference Desk; and in the Reference Collection, REF BF 76.7 .P83 2010

Par NOTE: Rule numbers in sections below refer to the Publication Manual (6th ed.).

APA Style uses a combination of in-text and parenthetical citations for quoting or paraphrasing a work. (Complete bibliographical information is given only once, in the bibliography called “References” on a separate page at the end of the paper – see Parts II and III, below.)

A. Quotes with fewer than 40 words:

Examples:
Tram and Cole (2006) studied children and early adolescents to quantify the extent to which “[d]epression predicts later depression” (p. 674).
or
Researchers have studied children and early adolescents to quantify the extent to which “[d]epression predicts later depression” (Tram & Cole, 2006, p. 674).

1. Incorporate the quote into the text of the paper.
2. Enclose in quotation marks with punctuation outside the parenthesis.
3. Give these three elements:
 - a. Author’s last name – either in the text or in parentheses after the closing quotation mark,
 - b. Year of publication – after the author’s name, wherever the name appears,
 - c. Page numbers – in the parentheses after the closing quotation mark, preceded by the abbreviation p. or pp.
If page numbers are not available, give the paragraph number, if visible, preceded by the abbreviation para., or include the section subheading and count the paragraphs. If neither of these options exists, include only the author’s last name and date.

B. Quotes with more than 40 words:

Example:
Rodriquez (2005) argues that, while European immigrant experiences generally had a beginning and an end,

 Mexican immigration has been virtually continuous for the past century. This has made the process of Mexican integration a perpetual one. But this dynamic hasn't so much retarded assimilation as it has sown confusion in the formulation of political and cultural identities. (p.35)

Because there has been a steady wave of immigration from Mexico to the United States, assimilated Mexican-Americans have had a more challenging time trying to gain acceptance as Americans rather than foreigners.

1. Use a block quotation. (Start on a new line, indent by a half inch, and double space.)
2. Do not enclose in quotation marks.
3. Give these three elements:
 - a. Author’s last name – either in the text before the block quotation or in parentheses after the final punctuation mark of the block quotation,
 - b. Year of publication – after the author’s name, wherever the name appears,
 - c. Page numbers – in the parentheses after the final punctuation mark of the block quotation, preceded by the abbreviation p. or pp.

If page numbers are not available, give the paragraph number, if visible, preceded by the abbreviation para., or include the section subheading and count the paragraphs. If neither of these options exists, include only the author's last name and date.

C. Paraphrases or summaries:

Example:

In a study tracking fifth- and sixth-graders over four years, Tram and Cole (2006) found no significant differences in the stability of depressive symptoms between adolescent girls and boys (p. 682).

1. Always give two elements:
 - a. Author's last name – either in the text or in parentheses after the paraphrase or summary; and
 - b. Year of publication – either in the text or in parentheses after the paraphrase or summary.
2. Page numbers – if available, are optional but recommended.

D. In-Text & Parenthetical Documentation Chart

The table below gives examples of the most common in-text citations. The complete list of “References” cited in this table appears in Part IV below.

Part II. Basics of APA “References”

A. Elements of a Citation

The diagram shows two reference entries with various parts annotated by blue arrows and text:

Entry 1:
Crister, G. (2004). Fat land: How Americans became the fattest people in the world. Boston: Houghton Mifflin.

Entry 2:
Garner, M., Mogg, K., & Bradley, B. P. (2006). Orienting and maintenance of gaze to facial expressions of social anxiety. Journal of Abnormal Psychology 115, 760-770. doi:10.1037/0021-843X.115.4.760

Annotations:

- 18: page number
- center: centered text
- References: section title
- publication date in parentheses followed by a period: points to (2004).
- initials only, no first name: points to G.
- name order reversed for alphabetizing: points to Crister, G.
- first letter of first word of title and sub-title capitalized: points to F in Fat land.
- title italicized sub-title included: points to Fat land: How Americans became the fattest people in the world.
- place of publication and publisher are separated by a colon: points to Boston: Houghton Mifflin.
- second line indented five spaces or one-half inch: points to the second line of the second entry.
- Entries should be double spaced: points to the first entry.
- 1": margin indicator (horizontal and vertical).
- page numbers: points to 760-770.
- Digital object identifier, or DOI: points to doi:10.1037/0021-843X.115.4.760.
- Journal names and volume number are italicized: points to Journal of Abnormal Psychology 115.

B. The Basic Rules of “References” List Entries

The list of all the sources you cited in your paper is called “References.”

For illustrations of the following rules, see sample “References” list (Part IV, below).

- 1) Include the “References” list, on a separate sheet, at the end of your paper, with the word “References,” centered at the top (without quotation marks).
- 2) Double-space the “References” list.
- 3) Use hanging indents for each entry (i.e., indent all lines after the first line of each entry, one-half inch from the left margin).
- 4) Authors’ names
 - a) Invert all authors' names (i.e, give last or family name first).
 - b) For all first and middle names, give initials only.
 - c) For a work with 8 or more authors, list the first 6 authors, insert an ellipsis (...), and then add the last author’s name. (see Piper entry below)
- 5) No author listed (Publication Manual 6.15, 7.15)
 - a) Enter works with no author by title of the article, Web page, or book. (see “Reasoning” entry below)
- 6) Alphabetization (Publication Manual 6.25)
 - a) Alphabetize by the first word in each entry (usually the last name of the first author).
 - b) List works with the same single author or the same multiple authors in the same order by year of publication, starting with the earliest. (see Stiles entries below)
 - c) List works with the same single author or the same multiple authors in the same order and published in the same year alphabetically by title. (see Stiles entries below)
- 7) Publication dates always go in parentheses:
 - a) (year) – for a book or a scholarly journal
 - b) (year, Month or Season) or (year, Month day) – for magazine or newspaper articles (see Reasoning and Brody entries below)
 - c) (n.d.) – if no date is available (see PETA entry below)
- 8) Capitalization
 - a) In titles of books, articles, and Web pages, capitalize only the first letter of the first word of the title and subtitle, the first word after a colon or a dash, and proper nouns.
 - b) In journal titles, capitalize all major words.
 - c) Do not capitalize the first letter of the second word in a hyphenated compound word. (see Cantor entry below)

9) Italics

- a) Italicize titles of longer works such as books, journals or websites.
- b) Italicize periodical volume numbers.
- c) Do not italicize (or underline or put quotation marks around) titles of shorter works such as magazine or journal articles, Web pages, essays or chapters in edited books.

10) Digital Object Identifier (DOI) (Publication Manual 6.31-2, 7.01)

- a) Important change in the 6th edition of APA style: For scholarly sources available online, APA recommends providing the DOI (Digital Object Identifier). The DOI is a unique alphanumeric code that provides a stable, long-lasting link for online articles. If the DOI is available, it is to be found the first page of an article. (See Cantor, Piper, and Stiles entries below)
- b) If there is no DOI, provide the database name or the URL of the article found on the free Web. (See Basu entry below)

11) Classical works (Publication Manual 6.18)

“References” list entries are not required for major classical works (e.g., ancient Greek and Roman works, religious texts). Identify the version used when the work is first mentioned in the text and use chapter, verse, or line numbers in a parenthetical citation in the text.

12) Personal communications (Publication Manual 6.20)

Because personal communications, including interviews and emails, do not provide “recoverable data,” they are not included in the “References” list. They are cited only in the text. (For an example, see In-Text & Parenthetical Documentation Chart above.)

C. Citation Abbreviations (Publication Manual, 4.02, 6.22)

Edition:	Use ed.
Revised edition:	Use Rev. ed.
Second Edition:	Use 2nd ed.
Editor or Editors:	Use Ed. or Eds.
Translator or Translators:	Use Trans.
No date:	Use n.d.
Page or pages:	Use p. or pp.
Paragraph	Use para.
Volume or Volumes:	Use Vol. or Vols.
Number:	Use No.
Part:	Use Pt.
Technical Report:	Use Tech. Rep.
Supplement:	Use Suppl.

For legal and governmental abbreviations: See Publication Manual A7.01

Part III. Citation Examples for “References” List

At the end of your paper, you must provide an alphabetical listing of all the works you have cited. This requirement includes both works you have actually quoted and works from which you have summarized or paraphrased. The information is arranged alphabetically according to the author’s last name or, when no author is named, by title.

III.A. Books (Publication Manual, 7.02)

Elements:

Author, A. A., & Author, B. B. (Year of Publication). Title of work. (# ed.) Place of publication:
Publisher.

Book by a single author (Publication Manual, 7.02.18)

Crister, G. (2004). Fat land: How Americans became the fattest people in the world. Boston: Houghton Mifflin.
